Wallerstein Scholarship, 2018–2019 Guidelines and Instructions for Applicants

Application Deadline: March 31, 2018

INTRODUCTION

Background

The Wallerstein Scholarship was established in 1973 at the University of Virginia by a gift from Ruth C. and Morton L. Wallerstein to foster interest and research in Virginia local government. The annual Scholarship is administered by the Virginia Municipal League (VML) and the University of Virginia's (UVA) Weldon Cooper Center for Public Service (Cooper Center).

Purpose

To provide support to an exceptional individual for a period of one year for the purpose of undertaking research either a) as a student at the University of Virginia, or b) as a Fellow of the Cooper Center.

A student shall be defined as a person pursuing an academic degree, preferably at the graduate level, who has an interest in local government. This scholarship is targeted towards graduate students, but rising seniors may be considered.

A Fellow shall be a practitioner who would like to undertake a significant research project within a higher education environment, and who has reached a point in his/her career when he/she would benefit from time to pursue a sustained program of research.

A Fellow can also be a retired practitioner or academician who would like to pursue research that would benefit Virginia local government.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS

Stipend

The value of the annual award is $5,000. The amount shall be based on need, to be determined jointly by the directors of the VML and the Cooper Center.

The recipient will receive access to UVA libraries, Cooper Center and VML publications, other research materials, and office space, if needed.

HOW THE SCHOLARSHIP OPERATES

Tracks

The Scholarship has two distinct tracks:

- Track 1: Student Track
- Track 2: Fellow Track

Eligibility

Track 1: Student Track

Applicants must:

- either be accepted into a graduate program or be a rising senior.
- have a serious interest in working in/ with local government as shown by such activities as internships, volunteering, or relevant research

OR

- a brief essay defining an interest in local government.

Track 2: Fellow

Applicants must:

- provide documentation of successful professional experience in government,
- have demonstrated ability to complete the required research,
- indicate a serious interest in Virginia local government, and
- have documented approval from their employer.

OR

- be retired from a successful career in either a) government or b) a related academic field, such as public administration, public policy, or planning.

Selection Criteria for Students

The student recipient will be selected based on academic record and demonstrated interest in local government a written essay defining interest in local government.

Selection Criteria for Fellows

Criteria for selection include

- demonstrated commitment and continuing interest in local government issues,
- demonstrated leadership, professional abilities or academic achievements, and
- value of applicant's proposed research project to Virginia local governments.

Applicants have considerable latitude in selecting their research topics. Once selected, the recipient can expect to refine the topic in consultation with the directors of the VML and Cooper Center.

The research findings should be of value to Virginia local government. The recipient should be able to identify the practical local government ramifications that flow from the project and the potential applicability of the findings.

Applicants will be considered based on their proposed research project and their ability to produce a superior report and comply with all the other criteria and provisions of the application process. The director of the Cooper Center or his/her designee will serve as the advisor to the recipient. The recipient will work under the supervision of faculty from the Cooper Center and the University of Virginia.

Residency

Virginia residency is preferred, but not required.

Application Deadline

All application materials are due on March 31, 2018.

Notification

The Scholarship recipient will be announced in late spring 2018. All candidates will receive official notification.

Selection Committee

The selection committee will be composed of representatives of the VML and the Cooper Center. Selection will be made in accordance with standing UVA policies governing such awards.

Duration

The formal award year runs from September 1, 2018 through August 31, 2019. Extensions may be granted due to special circumstances.
